

Mapping Guidance

Another important component of planning your Registry Week is mapping the actual locations of where you would like to do your street surveying.

- Get a large map of the entire area you'll want to cover
- Consult with outreach teams and police department to determine hot spots and areas where people experiencing homelessness might be hidden
- Divide the large map into smaller areas that, if possible, align with team leaders' familiarity with that area
- Create one smaller area for each team leader you'll have
- Go to google maps and print out one map per team leader. Some areas it is useful to print both a street view map and a satellite view map. Your community probably has GPS mapping and the mapping person would love to help you. Check it out.
- Use a marker to clarify within the team's map exactly what areas they should cover.
- Label the big map and smaller map with letters or numbers (don't mix!) – and label them with the exact same label as the team leaders. So team A goes to map A, and little map A is the same area as big map A. (4:00 AM is not the time for anything complicated or cute)
